

An aerial, isometric illustration of the Malamut's Breakers hotel in Atlantic City, N.J. The building is a large, multi-story structure with a prominent central section featuring a green mansard roof with several ornate dormers. The facade is light-colored with many windows. In the foreground, a wide beach is visible with numerous people and colorful umbrellas. To the right, there is a large green lawn area and a long, narrow structure, possibly a pier or walkway. A speech bubble in the upper right corner contains the text "MALAMUT'S BREAKERS ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.".
