Mark Forward Step in 35 Years of Steady Growth, And Expansion

Marking another forward step in the 35 years of leadership they have enjoyed since opening their first restaurant in this city on Fifth Avenue, near Chatham Street, back in

MR. JOSEPH KLEIN

1900, Klein's, known to thousands of satisfied Pittsburgh diners to whom they have catered through these many years, will open their beautiful, new, modern restaurant, at 330 Fourth Avenue, this Tuesday, under the personal management of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klein.

Klein's new Restaurant and Sea Food House is the latest achievement in modern, fine dining room construction, and here, in an atmosphere of refinement, coziness, and the most modern conveniences, discriminating diners will be able to enjoy a full meal, a "snack," or a leisurely cocktail.

Jim Marshall, for 46 years the city's leading oyster man, will be back with Klein's to greet his many friends at the Oyster Bar. Patrons remember Jim at Klein's 7th Avenue Hotel location until September 1st of this year, and in this new spot, he will be in charge of the Oyster Bar, preparing sea food in a manner to satisfy the most exacting appetites.

Remembering the patron's comfort at all times, Klein's have installed the latest Frigidaire Air Conditioning equipment, thus assuring dining and wining in pleasant, comfortable temperature at all times.

The kitchen of the new Klein's will be supervised by women exclusively, and will be headed by an expert with 18 years' experience with Klein's alone.

From the 5th Avenue location in 1900, Klein's have enjoyed a steady progress through the years, moving and expanding from 5th Avenue to the Moose Temple, later to Smithfield Street, between 6th and 7th Streets, then to the 7th Avenue Hotel, where they gained thousands of new, satisfied patrons, and now to their new Fourth Avenue location.

At the same time Mr. and Mrs. Klein came to be recognized as leaders in their field, enjoying the reputation of being the leading Jewish restaurateurs here since the turn of the century.

Visitors who have already had the opportunity of glimpsing the interior of the new location, in the heart of Pittsburgh's financial district, have expressed complete admiration at the many new innovations, the clever indirect lighting system that has been installed, and the beauty of the furnishings, and many of them are of the opinion that the new Klein's is easily the most beautiful dining room between New York and Chicago.

The design of the new Klein's was the work of Charles Shilowitz, a leading architect of the East, and the general contracting work was under the supervision of the Leebov Construction Company of this city, with Nat Leebov at its head.

Mr. and Mrs. Klein extend an invitation to all their many friends and happy, satisfied patrons to come in and visit with them in their new location, of which the city can well be proud. They promise that the high "Klein Quality" standard always offered in the past, will be the watchword in their new Restaurant and Sea Food House at 330 Fourth Ave.

Best wishes for continued success to Klein's
