Dear Mrs. Gould,

At the annual meeting of the Membership of Temple Israel it was resolved that significant changes were necessary in the educational program for our children. Our member agreed that the joint Religious School is not meeting the educational and religious needs of our children. We would like to develop a curriculum which is family focused, closely integrated into temple worship services and reflective of the philosophy of Reform Judaism.

The joint Religious School was organized by agreement of the Boards of Temple Israel and Tree of Life Synagogue. We are grateful for your cooperation during our long association. However, we feel that in view of changed circumstances, we need to develop our own Religious School which will meet our needs. Hopefully, we can still arrange for the children in our Religious Schools to join together for holiday celebrations.

We are recommending that the account of the Joint School be closed and the balance of the funds be equally distributed.

With all best wishes.

Yours sincerely,

J. Leonard Pariser,
President
