Dedicates
Azorsky Building

DR. ABRAHAM AZORSKY
Students will remember.

Dr. Abraham Azorsky, former president of California (Pa.) State College Board of Trustees, was honored on Oct. 16 with the dedication of the Abraham Azorsky Administration Building at the school.

Dr. Azorsky was appointed to the Board in 1965. He served as president from May 1968 to June 1970.

Born in Pittsburgh on Feb. 1, 1894, Dr. Azorsky came to California shortly after his graduation from Universal Chiropractic College. He and his wife, Dr. Sarah Goldberg Azorsky, also a chiropractor, have maintained a home and office in California since 1922.

The Azorskys have two sons—Morley, a California attorney, and Dr. Joseph J. of Cherry Hill, N. J.—and five grandchildren.

Among his other activities Dr. Azorsky has been a director of the Jewish Home for the Aged for 49 years. He has also been active in the United Jewish Appeal, Israel Bonds, and was instrumental in keeping the Sons of Jacob Congregation active in California.

The building named in Dr. Azorsky's honor is located in the campus square that borders Third, Fourth, Park and Hickory Sts. It houses the college's administrative and business offices as well as some of its student and academic services.

Dr. Azorsky was one of a group of Californians who exercised their influence in persuading the state to retain the college during the 1930s when it was threatened with conversion to some other type of institution.

MOST Jewish children in the ghettos of the Moslem countries never see a toy or a book until they enroll in one of the Joint Distribution Committee kindergartens. Their families are too poor for such "luxuries." Once in the kindergartens, however, they soon blossom out and make up for lost time. There are close to 1,400 pre-school-age children cared for in nine kindergartens supported by JDC in Tunisia, Morocco and Iran, with United Jewish Appeal funds.
