Mrs. Goodman's Birthday.

A notable event in the affairs of the J. M. Gusky Orphanage took place at that institution Monday evening of this week, the occasion being the 56th birthday of the matron, Mrs. J. Goodman. The evening's entertainment was in charge of the Gusky Orphanage Alumni, who, together with a few other friends of the honored guest and the present inmates of the institution, constituted the members of the assemblage. A noteworthy fact was the splendid representation of the Gusky Orphanage Alumni, every active member, from both in and out of town, being on hand to do honor to their kind friend and to add to the evening's pleasure.

Progressive euchre was first indulged in and proved to be a source of interest and enjoyment for those who participated. The prizes in this game were won by Moses Levy, Annie Schwelling, Samuel Gildberg and Mrs. M. Haas. Supper was then served. Just after the guests had taken their seats at the table the Gusky Orphanage Alumni, through its chairman, presented Mrs. Goodman with a silver candel-candles of blue and white, the colors of the Alumni. Mrs. Goodman was entirely overcome by this act, and abra, decorated with ribbons and her son, Charles, in a well worded speech thanked the donors and assured them of the intense appreciation felt by his mother and the other members of her family. During the course of the supper Louis Caplan, acting as toastmaster, called upon many of those present, all of whom responded with toasts full of well wishes for her whom they had gathered there to honor. After supper, and until the time for departing, the game of shadowgraphs afforded the means of entertainment to all. The prizes were won by Olga Paggi and Lazarus Ellis.

All in all the occasion is a never-to-be-forgotten affair and one which will bring only pleasant remembrances in the future to all who were present. In Mrs. Goodman the children of the Gusky Orphanage have ever found a devoted and sincere friend, whose foremost interest has always been the welfare of those under her care. During the past 12 years in which she has been the matron of that noble institution she has endeared herself to the inmates and has kindled in their hearts a spark of affection which needs only such occasions as this to transform it into a flame of unrestrainable gratitude, which gives vent to such an outward show of appreciation as this. The past and present inmates of the Orphanage wish their "auntie" many more years of happiness and joy. They feel that they are voicing the sentiments of this entire community when they pray for her a future of continuous peace and contentment, made happy by the respect, devotion and love shown her by those whom she has befriended. 20th Century Club of Wampum.

The 20th Century Club of Wampum, Pa., gave a social and literary entertainment at the Grand Opera House Tuesday evening, September 27, 1904. Music was furnished by the Berman Orchestra. Mr. Alex. Berman rendered a violin solo, Miss Anna Greenstone sang several charming songs and impersonated Sarah Bernhardt and several other prominent actresses. There were many out-of-town people, among them being Miss Lena Fineberg, J. F. Bluestone, Morris Hechsler of Pittsburg, Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Louis Pittler of Beaver Falls; Misses Pearl and Sadie Edelstine, Misses Pearl and Bertie Levine, Miss Mary Goldberg and Mr. Max Goldberg of New Castle.

The affair was largely attended and was a grand success, which was largely due through the energetic efforts of Miss Stiglitz, the head worker.

This society was formed by the Jewish residents of Wampum for the development of social and literary functions. At present Mr. M. Goldberg is president and Miss Stiglitz, secretary.
