
Dedication Exercises of Free Burial Society to Take Place Tomorrow Morning

Much enthusiasm is being shown by the members and friends of the Free Burial Society for the dedication exercises of the new Chapel and Fence which takes place tomorrow, July 8th, at the cemetery grounds at Millvale, Pa.

This organization, which includes in its membership many prominent Jews of this city, renders a great service in its work and it is hoped that a great number will be on hand to assist in the exercises.

Speeches by some of the rabbis, as well as other prominent men, are included in a well-arranged program. Besides the dedication exercises, the unveiling of the Jacob Bernstein Tablet will take place. Memorial services for departed members and friends of the society will also take place. The Ladies' Auxiliary has prepared a real meal for those who attend.

The committee in charge of arrangements has made arrangements whereas free trucks and autos are at the disposal of those desiring to attend the exercises. The procession, which will form at the Beth Hamedrosh Hagodol, Washington Place, will leave at 10 o'clock, and those who desire to leave in their own machines are requested to be at that place on time. Those who desire to go by trolley can take either an Etna or Millvale car and get off at the end of the line, where an auto bus will convey participants to the grounds. Shelter has been provided in case of inclement weather.

The officers of the organization are: Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky, Hon. President; Mr. Jacob Hepner, President; Mr. K. Sacks, Vice President; Mr. J. Folpe, Treasurer; Mr. W. S. Winer, Secretary.

The Building Committee includes the officers and Messrs. I. Raffel, H. Kalson and Myer Rosenthal.
