

Sharing pain, hope

To The Editor:

How can we thank you enough for your superb, sensitive coverage of the Jews with AIDS in the Family program?

Over 20 caring Jews with AIDS/HIV, parents, brothers and sisters, significant others and those who have lost a loved one to AIDS attended the first meeting last month. Words cannot express how it feels to be able to be with other Jews who share the same pain and hope.

We are grateful to the Jewish Family and Children's Service with the support of the United Jewish Federation for making this program happen.

Our next meeting of Jews with AIDS in the Family will be on Sunday, May 31, 7:30 p.m., Tree of Life Synagogue. All Jews with AIDS in the family are invited to attend. Kosher refreshments will be served; there is no charge for admission.

Thank you again for your caring.
