

Know Thyself!

A few weeks ago announcement was made of the reopening of classes by the Yeshivath Rabbi Jacob Joseph at the Kehilath Jeshurun Synagogue, Anaheim Street. This announcement was welcomed by those of Pittsburgh Jewry who are possessed of sufficient learning to appreciate the importance of such an enterprise. Nevertheless a large part of the Jewish youth of Pittsburgh has apparently ignored this invitation to become acquainted with our history and tradition without a knowledge of which they cannot possibly be the Jews they profess to be. It is a sad but perfectly obvious fact that many of the Jewish young people of today do not know themselves by which we mean that they are ignorant of the Hebrew history and philosophy as expounded in the Talmud, and what is even more discouraging than this ignorance is the fact that they are evidently not especially anxious to take advantage of such opportunities as these which are offered them.

Rabbi Hurwitz is interested in the welfare of the Jewish youth of today. He invites you to visit these classes any Sunday afternoon and find for yourself that there is much of interest and beauty to be found in the study of the Talmud.
