

Shady Ave. Mikvah

Gets City Okay

The City's Zoning Board of Adjustment on Wednesday gave approval to the request to convert a dwelling on Shady Avenue to a Jewish ritual bath or mikvah. Currently in Oakland, the mikvah will be closer to the community which uses its facilities at the Squirrel Hill site, according to backers of the move.