A SPECIAL THANK-YOU TO—

Linda Raden of Raden Arts; Ellie Diamond, Art teacher, and her classes, for today's centerpieces; Pauline Michaels, “artist extraordinaire”; Fran Borovetz, Principal of Solomon Schechter Day School; Rochelle Klein, Music teacher; and the Board of Directors of the Solomon Schechter Day School.

IN RECOGNITION OF ALBERT SMOLOVER, MARVIN LIEBER AND NATHAN TABOR

The vision, the initiative and the commitment of these men have brought us to this day. Their encouragement, their guiding hands, their listening ears and their generous hearts are each irreplaceable components in today's celebration. A generation of Solomon Schechter children, their families and synagogues, are in their debt. A new generation of American-Jewish leaders, comfortable in their Judaism and committed to creative survival, will be their lasting legacy.

BIBLICAL REMINISCENCES

“Biblical Reminiscences,” which is presented to Albert Smolover, is a limited edition collagraph print by Pauline Michaels. It is a combination of intaglio and relief printing. The work, though largely abstract, contains within it the images of a person reading and of several key symbols of Jewish life.

Pauline Michaels has exhibited widely at galleries throughout Pennsylvania and at national and international exhibitions. Her work is in the collections of Price Waterhouse, Koppers, Pittsburgh National Bank, National Intergroup, I.B.M., Hamburg Brothers, Deloitte, Haskins & Sells, C.S. McKee, Thrift Drug and the Vista International Hotel, and is in numerous private collections. Pauline Michaels is an active member and past President of The Pittsburgh Print Group and a member of Associated Artists of Pittsburgh.
