The 27th meeting of the Mother & Father Shapiro Club was held at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Morris Goldsmith on May 24, 1939.

Meeting was called to order by Harry Shapiro, who appointed Lena Goldsmith temporary chairman. Mrs. Kissen moved that the minutes be corrected so as to include Harry Shapiro's discussion ^{of last month} as to the cause of the younger members' ^{seeming} lack of interest in the meetings. His arguments were as follows:

"The older members take the floor at every opportunity without even permitting the younger ones an opportunity to voice their views. He suggested this might be corrected by a new seating arrangement, i.e., placing the younger members near the chairman at all meetings, and the older members in the back of the room. After receiving the opinions of both the older and younger members on this matter it was decided that it was not necessary to take any measures in this direction, as the young members have at all times up to the present displayed sufficient interest in all of the club's activities, there being, therefore, no basis for Harry Shapiro's arguments.

Mrs. Stein advised that the Mumi Stein Club in Chicago had turned over the reins to its younger members, which was creating more enthusiasm in their club.
