His unbounded faith in the Jewish Community Center as the core and focal point for all Jewish communal activities as a means of attaining community-family unity, and his love and constant labors for the Talmud Torah, give life to the thought so beautifully expressed by William Penn:

“I expect to pass through life but once. —
If therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do to any fellow-being, let me do it now, and not defer or neglect it, as I shall not pass this way again.”
