

Sunday.

My dearest son -

Papa has just told me of the arrangements that we are making for our future home. And I do not feel in the least complicated that I am not considered of sufficient importance to be consulted upon the matter.

I can scarcely believe after you told me F2 would reside at the Shenley that you would not stick to what you say.
If F2 are not to live in a house I will not live in the same house with other Irish families, in that case if you can not afford to take me to the Shenley let it be a cheaper hotel. I have never lived in a boarding house & I have a horror of them, you never can have any privacy with a lot of middlemen & men under the same roof. I think very strange that you have not been here to discuss the matter with me, I am so well that you can stand me in a corner and there I stay. Young married people should always be to themselves. And if you are so anxious to go housekeeping, get a house then I will keep house for you, but I don't want anybody doing my catering as I am fully capable of doing it myself.

And if you do not consider me so, well then, I am not fit to get married.

I wrote this to save you the trouble of making your contemplated arrangements in haste - Much Love & kisses Lou.
