

PEPSI-COLA CENTER FOR SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN

13th and G Streets, N. W.

Washington, D. C.

Thursday
30 March 1944

Hiyah Shugah —

Well - two days from today and you will have a new last name. I wish it was Saturday night - or better still - Sunday morning and it was all over. Not that I'm nervous or anything - but your second letter of Tuesday arrived this evening - and - since the wedding is at Price's house I don't care how many people you invite. Before I had to be considerate of the Rabbi's place - now I'll relax and enjoy myself.

PEPSI-COLA CENTER FOR SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN

13th and G Streets, N. W.

Washington, D. C.

B

At the moment I'm waiting for Eli Alpert. As is usual with him - he's late. I do hope he shows up since I very much want to see him.

By the way, Darling, did I tell you that I love you very much? No? Well, I do.

Glad that you called the flower shop. Hope everything is O.K. on the flowers.

It rained today to but finally cleared up about four this afternoon. Now the sun is shining.

My pen ran out so I'm dipping in to the Pepsi-Cola inkwell. The combination produces this color.

PEPSI-COLA CENTER FOR SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN

13th and G Streets, N. W.

Washington, D. C.

D

line for a few days. We have fun.

So, dollbaby, all for now.
my best to all the folks.
I won't write tomorrow.

Love and kisses and affection for you from

Sam