
Open New Delicatessen

Owned and operated by Charles and Meyer Elovitz, Squirrel Hill's newest delicatessen has opened at 1928 Murray Avenue.

A modern, deluxe eating spot where personal, courteous service is rendered at all times, this restaurant carries only the finest in corned beef, rolled beef, salami and other smoked meats.

In addition to quick service on delicious steak and chop orders, prepared on charcoal, tasty luncheons and dinners, as well as short orders, are featured at all times.

An added specialty are the "tastiest and freshest" sandwiches "on the hill," at reasonable prices.

A complete line of cigars, cigarettes and soft drinks is handled and for those arranging picnics, outings or home buffet events, there is a special department of foods, pickles and meats.

Messrs. Elovitz are inviting Pittsburghers to drop in for a visit and, amid the pleasant, comfortable surroundings of their new delicatessen-restaurant, enjoy delicious food temptingly served.
