

THE JEWISH CEMETERY IN PORT VUE

ABSTRACT

The old Jewish cemetery in Port Vue is the final resting place for a number of children who lived in the early decades of the twentieth century. This project explores the cemetery and the congregation that founded it, and provides the framework for reconnecting these children with their families.

The Jewish Cemetery in Port Vue

At the eastern edge of the Calvary Cemetery in Port Vue, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, seemingly in the backyard of the house adjacent, are two rows of gravestones that mark the burial locations of approximately 28 Jews who died in the early part of the twentieth century. One row appears to be relatively complete, though deteriorating. A small number of stones in that row were noted to have shifted during the course of our research, the early part of which spanned the winter months. The other row shows a wide expanse with only two stones at either end to define the row.

Any record of interments seems to have disappeared long ago. The congregation that established this plot of land as their burial ground disbanded in the 1930's, leaving the inscribed stones to preserve the history of those buried there. Unfortunately, time and weather have all but erased the inscriptions from the faces of the stones, quite effectively removing any identifying information. At the beginning of this project, there were no names, and only one date, visible without the aid of photographic assists among all the gravestones. The process of identifying those buried in this little cemetery has had to depend primarily on the scant documentation that survives today in the public record.

This project is an attempt to capture what is known of the Jewish cemetery in Port Vue, to identify those buried there to the extent possible, and to preserve that knowledge for future generations.

Abandoned, Not Forgotten

The cemetery appears to have served its congregation for only a few years. We know from property transfer records that the land was acquired in 1907¹. Another, slightly larger, plot of land was acquired by the same congregation in the middle of the Elrod cemetery property in Versailles ten years later, and burial activities moved to that location. Our research suggests that burials began in Port Vue in 1907, and stopped abruptly in 1917 – with one possible exception that will be discussed later in this work.

The cessation of burials at the Port Vue location after 1917 is exemplified by two burials from the same family which took place around that time. The family of Phillip I. Kohn had the misfortune of losing a newborn baby boy on January 10, 1914. His remains were interred at Port Vue that same day, in keeping with Jewish custom². On April 15, 1918, the Kohns' 15-y.o. daughter passed away. She, too, was buried on the day of her death, but her burial took place in Versailles.

Houses of worship of all denomination frequently struggle to maintain their current properties, let alone devote scarce resources to properties that they have left behind. Against the odds, this cemetery has been maintained until this day, thanks in part to those who have occupied the house adjacent to the cemetery, and, we are told, the groundskeepers of the adjacent Catholic cemetery.

Members of the synagogue, it is recorded³, kept the cemetery presentable after the congregation closed its doors. Members of other local synagogues almost certainly were involved for some time thereafter. Remarkably, a number of non-Jewish citizens of Port Vue have also contributed their time and efforts in the maintenance of this burial ground over the past century. In the late 1920's, after burials had ceased there, the family of Peter and Anna Begandy moved into the house adjacent to the cemetery. Along with their sons John, Thomas, Joseph, and Peter, the Begandy family kept the grass cut and the field clear of debris. When the house was purchased by John and Mary Yablonski, they and their son, with help from their friend Peter Begandy, continued the maintenance efforts⁴. The torch was passed to subsequent owners of the house, who readily accepted the responsibility. Notably, in mid-2020, the Jewish Cemetery and Burial Association of Greater Pittsburgh (JCBA) assumed responsibility for its maintenance and care and established the name of the Keshet Israel Cemetery⁵.

Origins

The cemetery that is the focus of this study was the first burial ground of the Keshet Israel Congregation of McKeesport. It is located southwest of the point at which Dersam Street meets Myer Avenue today. On the Port Vue Plan of 1893, two lots formed a triangle, wedged between Walnut Street to the east and Fern Alley to the southwest.⁶ Early on, Walnut Street was renamed Dersam, and eventually the last 160' disappeared from view. Today, the only vestige of Fern Alley is a set of deep tire tracks that approximate the general location of the planned 9' alley for a few yards. The cemetery appears as a random group of markers in a nondescript plot of land with no obvious borders. Its small plain stones and the orientation of the graves stand in stark contrast to the orderly rows of granite monuments in the Calvary Cemetery⁷ immediately to the west.

The Keshet Israel congregation was formed in 1907 when “clashing personalities and rivalries”⁸ moved a group of individuals to break away from Congregation S’fard Anshe Galicia. On July 10, 1907, a legal notice appeared in The Pittsburgh Press announcing that “an application will be made to [the Court of Common Pleas No.4, Allegheny County] on August 3, 1907, at 10 o’clock a. m., by Jacob L. Diamond, Osias Mercur, Louis Rosenberg and others [...] for the charter of an intended corporation to be called Kasher Israel Anchal⁹ Seward Congregation of McKeesport, the character and object of which is the worship of Almighty [sic] God according to the rites, forms, and principles of the Orthodox Jewish religion[.]”¹⁰ A similar notice was posted the same day in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette by Ben P. Brasley, attorney for the applicants.¹¹

The charter for the Kasher Israel Anchaé Sward Congregation of McKeesport, Pa., was approved on November 15, 1907, under the signature of Josiah Cohen, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 4, of Allegheny County¹², with these words: “And now, to-wit, this 15th day of November, A. D. 1907, [...] I do hereby approve of the said certificate of incorporation and order and direct upon the recording of said certificate of incorporation together with this order, that the subscribers thereto and their associates and successors shall be a corporation by the name and title of - - -”¹³ for the purposes and upon the terms stated therein.” The order was recorded on June 29, 1908.

Subscribers named in the application are as follows:

Jacob L. Diamond	606 Mulberry St.,	McKeesport, Pa.
Osiás Mercur	413 Jerome St.,	“	“
Louis Rosenberg	8 th St.,	“	“
Bennie Cahan	515 Market St.,	“	“
Abraham Willner	612 Mulberry St.,	“	“

The new entity was to be governed by a Board consisting of three to ten members, the number of which could vary according to the by-laws of the corporation. At the time of the charter application, the Board was comprised of seven men:

President	J. L. Diamond	606 Mulberry St.
Vice Pres.	Noah Zoldon	121 Freeman Alley
Secretary	Abraham Willner	612 Mulberry St.
Treasurer	Lazlar Chautmir ¹⁴	1002 Brick Alley
Trustees	Solomon Zoldon	121 Freeman Alley
	Jacob Mercur	606 Mulberry St.
	Isador Lebontz	410 Mulberry St.

The Kasher Israel Anchaé Sward Congregation of McKeesport purchased the land for the cemetery from The Realty Company on October 28, 1907 at a cost of $465. The land is described¹⁵ in the deed as “All those Two (2) certain lots or pieces of ground situate in the Borough of Port Vue, County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being lots Numbers Twelve (12) and Thirteen

¹² Allegheny County Court Book Volume 42 Page 466.

¹³ The various spellings and representations of the organization name throughout this document, including these three dashes, are as recorded in the cited documents.

¹⁵ There appears to be an error in the metes and bounds recorded in Deed Book Vol 1576, page 64. Specifically, one measure cited as 107.75 feet has been recorded elsewhere as 127.75 feet. See Allegheny County Plan Book Vol. 14, page 116 for the measurements recorded there.

(13) in the Port Vue Land & Improvement Company's Plan of Lots, as recorded in Plan Book Vol. 14, pages 114-116 [...] Being Two of the same lots inter alia which the Port Vue Land & Improvement Company by Deed dated June 23, 1904, and recorded in Deed Book Vol. 1341, page 469, granted and conveyed to The Realty Company, the present grantor."¹⁶ The two lots, together, comprise Parcel ID 466-D-251.

Kesher Israel built their synagogue, "a large wooden barracks-like building" as historian Sarah Landesman described it, at 616 Mulberry Street, McKeesport, just a few doors away from Jacob Diamond's residence.¹⁷ Today, Mulberry Street spans just five blocks, paved with brick and partially covered in deteriorating asphalt. It runs parallel to the Youghiogheny River, from 5th Avenue in the north to Frank Alley in the south.

On August 24, 1917, the "Kasher Israel Ancha Sward Congregation of McKeesport" purchased two adjoining parcels of land totaling 28,500 sq. ft. (0.65 acres) at the rear of the Temple B'nai Israel property at Elrod.¹⁸ Approximately one half of this, "3377/10000 acre" was purchased from Temple B'nai Israel.¹⁹ This three-tenths of an acre lay directly in front of the chapel building, with a 65' side lying along the alley that separates the Temple B'nai Israel Cemetery from that of Gemilas Chesed (a.k.a. the Austro-Hungarian Hebrew Cemetery).

Today, that parcel of land is heavily populated, the tombstones bearing family names that are typically associated with the Kesher Israel Congregation, but also with Tree of Life S'fard.

Upon the remaining parcel was constructed a chapel, the red brick façade of which was preserved when the original building was torn down and replaced in the early 2000's.

By 1930, the congregation had outgrown the Mulberry Street building, and plans were drawn for a new one to be erected on Market Street. An illustration of the impressive brick façade published in the Pittsburgh Press attests to the aspirations and hopes of the congregation. The planned cost was estimated at $40,000 ($692,000 at this writing). Jacob L. Diamond, who had been with Kesher Israel since its inception, served as the chairman of the building and finance committee.²⁰

Coincidentally, the year 1930 also saw the death of the president of the congregation, Abe L. Kessler. Passing at the age of 32, he was reportedly "the youngest president of any Jewish congregation in the country.”²¹ Mr. Kessler is buried in the Kesher Israel plot at Elrod, his gravestone well preserved to this day.

Even at a distance of ninety years, one can sense the vitality in the Kesher Israel community coming into the 1930’s. With a new synagogue on the drawing board, the building and finance committee numbered twelve – thirteen with Rev. J. Weinberg²² -- and the Ladies’ Auxiliary was actively raising funds through masquerade balls²³ and card parties²⁴ held in the ballroom of the renowned Penn-McKee Hotel.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, November 15, 1932, a fire began in the walls of the synagogue. Quick action on the part of the members protected the sacred articles from loss, and although the fire was contained within the walls, the synagogue sustained $2,000 in damage,²⁵ roughly equivalent to $41,000 at this writing.

Not much was written of Kesher Israel over the next few years, though one gets the impression that the fire – coming at a time when the United States was well into the Great Depression -- was a turning point in the history of Kesher Israel Anchaé Sfar.

On the façade of the chapel building of the Elrod Cemetery in Versailles can be found the following inscription: PRESENTED BY LADIES AUXILIARY OF KESHER ISRAEL. The keystone above the lunette is dated 1933, which would have been the year following the fire. That year, in retrospect, coincided with the height of the Great Depression.²⁶ It would also prove to be just two years before Kesher Israel closed its doors and merged with Sfar Anshe Galizien to form the Svard Synagogue on June 3, 1935.²⁷

Twenty years after the merger, in 1954, the old synagogue building on Mulberry Street was still standing, and had been remodeled for use as an apartment building.²⁸

From all indications, it appears that there was no interment activity at the cemetery in Port Vue after the purchase of the property at Elrod, with the possible exception of a number of pandemic burials marked with stones bearing only a number.²⁹

Port Vue Cemetery, a.k.a. “Old Elrod”

“Keshet Israel” does not appear to have ever been a part of a name applied to this cemetery, at least in the documents found to date. Indeed, the only reference to any prior name was found in the commemorative book of the Port Vue Centennial celebration, wherein the cemetery is listed as “Old Elrod Cemetery.”³⁰ While it may have been known as that in later years, it is unlikely that a name beginning with “Old” would have been used when the cemetery was new. And “Elrod” was already in use since the 1880’s as the collective name for the Temple B’nai Israel and Gemilas Chesed cemeteries on the other side of the Youghiogheny River in Versailles, so named for its location within the boundaries of the old (pre-Versailles) village referred to as Elrod.³¹

One theory about the name “Old Elrod” is that it may have been used colloquially in the years that followed the acquisition of that plot of land in the Elrod cemetery. The new cemetery would have almost certainly have been referred to as “Elrod”, as were all of the cemeteries located there. It seems reasonable, then, that the old cemetery would have eventually come to be referred to in conversation among the members of Keshet Israel as the “old Elrod.”

A corollary to that theory, since debunked, has to do with the existence of a loose-knit organization known as “Elrod Cemetery.” It was noted during our research into the Ahavas Achim Cemetery in White Oak, that according to the 2021 county tax assessment the cemetery property there is owned by that entity.³² Curiously, the last recorded sale date was in December, 1891 – the original purchase of that cemetery property. Contrary to the Ahavas Achim situation, the Keshet Israel cemetery property in Port Vue is, in fact, owned by “KASHER ISRAEL SEWARD CONGREGATION OF MC KEESPORT.”³³

Another name, “Port Vue Cemetery,” surfaced during research into the identities of those buried there. Some effort was required, though, to positively connect that name to the cemetery.

The weathered gravestones at Keshet Israel yielded only one clue, a date, which had to be pieced together from partial dates in the two languages commonly encountered in Jewish cemeteries. In Hebrew could be read: וז תרעא (“-uz 5671”), the only possibility being Tamuz 5671 (תמוז תרעא). In English, the month and day “July 16” were clearly visible. The only possible match is 16 July 1911 (20 Tamuz 5671).

²⁹ Any discussion of “pandemic burials” in this report is based entirely on theory, and has yet to be proven.

³³ Allegheny County Tax Assessment, 2022. The owner name is recorded here as in the assessment document.

“July 16, 1911” ultimately proved to be key in identifying the location of the cemetery when it was found on a death certificate for 2-y.o. Jennie Zvibel.³⁴ Her place of burial was listed as “Port Vue Cemetery.” Thirteen subsequent finds between the years 1907 and 1917 echoed the location name. No mention of the cemetery name has been found before or after those dates, and the number of burials reported to be at “Port Vue Cemetery” approximates the number of once-inscribed stones at Keshet Israel.

All of the circumstantial evidence suggests that Keshet Israel Cemetery and Port Vue Cemetery are one and the same. Consider the following: All the individuals who have been identified were of the Jewish faith, and would have been buried in a Jewish cemetery. There are no other known Jewish cemeteries in Port Vue. A death certificate for a Jewish child was found which matched the one legible date on a lichen-covered stone. Siblings of the children buried in the Port Vue Cemetery who died after 1917 were buried in the Keshet Israel plot in the Elrod Cemetery in Versailles.

The proof, however, came from a reading of the date-matched stone. By using multiple photos taken under various conditions including full daylight, daylight with cloud cover, nighttime with artificial oblique lighting, and older photos shared with us by a contributor to this project, the name of the deceased’s father, on the stone, was proven to match the name on the date-matched death certificate. That death certificate identified the final resting place of Jennie Zvibel as the Port Vue Cemetery.

It is entirely possible, however, that the cemetery was never formally named, and that the phrase “Port Vue Cem” was simply a means of recording the place of interment in a small, unnamed Jewish cemetery in Port Vue.

It should be noted that the phrase “Port Vue Cemetery” can be found in newspaper articles and on death certificates from the early 1900’s, wherein it was used to identify the burial locations of persons who were not of the Jewish faith. This is most likely a remnant of days prior to the establishment of the Keshet Israel Cemetery in 1907 when the Calvary Cemetery was occasionally referred to in that manner.

Murder in Versailles

There is one grave marker at Keshet Israel that immediately catches one’s attention. In stark contrast to the others, this one resembles a stone newel post, perhaps 7” on a side. On the western face of the stone can be found a badly deteriorated Hebrew inscription which we have not been able to read.

³⁴ The surname on the death certificate is clearly spelled “Zvibel,” though the family more often used “Zwibel” or “Zweibel.”

On the eastern face, however, is an inscription which had been overlooked as completely unreadable. That is, until photos taken at night, with oblique lighting, revealed the edges of English text in relief. The text reads: JACOB / BERKOWITZ / DIED / MAR 5 1914.

This came as quite a surprise, as that name had not shown up in our research as having been buried at Port Vue Cemetery. Investigation, however, soon turned up a story of murder in Versailles. On February 21, 1914, a masked man shot Jacob Berkowitz while in his butcher shop in Versailles Borough.³⁵ Death did not come until March 5th.³⁶ His death certificate states that he was to be interred at Elrod Cemetery, though his grave has not yet been located in the larger Elrod property in Versailles.

Confidence in the reading of the stone is absolute. Interestingly, the age on his death certificate is 44, making Jacob Berkowitz the first of only two identified interments of an adult in the Keshet Israel Cemetery. It is also worth noting, in support of correct interpretation of the inscription, that another stone of identical shape can be seen in the Ahavas Achim Cemetery, White Oak. That stone also bears the Berkowitz surname.³⁷

Incidentally, Jacob Berkowitz' Last Will and Testament yielded one more point of interest. Although Jacob had at least one living brother at the time of his death, the executor of his Will was J. L. Diamond, president of the Keshet Israel Congregation.³⁸ It is our opinion that his burial at Keshet Israel may have been a result of this relationship.

Identified Interments

At first, it seemed as if the Port Vue Cemetery was intended as a children's cemetery, as that is the impression one gets from the ages of most of those buried within. Relying upon the parameters of a search for deaths occurring in either Port Vue or McKeesport, between 1907 and 1917, only fourteen death certificates have been found with the Port Vue Cemetery as the place of burial. With the exception of Jacob Berkowitz and the later-identified Rachel Pearl Chotiner, the oldest was twelve years old at the time of her death.

On the following pages are the results of our research: a genealogy of those whom we were able to identify as being buried at the Keshet Israel Cemetery in Port Vue. Therein, we seek to illuminate their positions within their respective families. Names are listed in the order of interment. In the case of multiple interments from the same family, the earliest date is used.

Max Weis
(1908 – 1909)

In the brief span of seven years, the family of Harry and Anna Weiss suffered the loss of three of their nine children. Max was their second child. He died a few days before his first birthday.

The Mystery of Annie Kostkas

Among the children whose death certificates cite burial in the Port Vue Cemetery, one is somewhat puzzling. Three-year-old Annie Kostkas was with her mother and three other adults who were picking coal at the mouth of the abandoned Penny mine when the roof fell in, killing Annie and one of the adults. If we are to believe her death certificate, Annie would possibly be the first person to be interred in the Port Vue Cemetery. But there are questions.

Her burial date, October 17, 1907, is eleven days before the cemetery property was purchased. That, in itself, should be reason enough to discount the information on the death certificate. Let's assume, for a moment, that special dispensation was made for a 3-year-old victim of a coal mine roof fall.

Her parents and other family members are buried in the Calvary Cemetery, though the management group there has no record of Annie. It should be noted that her parents' gravestone in Calvary is adorned with a bold cross-and-lilies motif. If the parents were Christian at the time of their deaths (1935 and 1951), what is the probability that Annie was Jewish? And if she were not Jewish, what is the likelihood of her being buried in an as-yet-unconsecrated Jewish cemetery?

It is our opinion that the use of the phrase "Port Vue Cem" on Annie Kostkas' death certificate referred to another cemetery that was in existence at the time, most likely the Calvary Cemetery. We include this discussion here to aid future researchers who may encounter this anomaly in the records.

Numbered Graves

Another interesting feature that stands out among the gravestones at Keshet Israel are the simple stones inscribed with only a number. These "slab" stones measure 8" wide by 2" thick, with a square-cut top. The full measure of the height of the stones is roughly two feet, the lower part of which is buried in the ground. There is no "base" upon which the stone rests. Similar stones can be found in the Ahavas Achim Cemetery in White Oak, where it is theorized that they mark the graves of victims of the "Spanish flu" pandemic of 1918.²³⁰

Indeed, the existence of these "slab" stones at Keshet Israel was a critical factor in the interpretation of the stones found at Ahavas Achim. There, only three stones were found in situ, one with only three inches visible above the ground. Various theories were considered and discarded before the Keshet Israel stones were examined.

Most of the Keshet Israel "slab" stones appear to be in situ, arranged in a row. Unlike the relatively scattered locations of the Ahavas Achim stones, the placement of these stones strongly suggests that they are, in fact, grave markers. Ten of these “slab” stones are visible at the Keshet Israel cemetery as of this writing, though some have evidence of having borne inscriptions at one time. Of the numbered square-top “slabs”, only #8 and #17 are clearly visible.

In addition to the “slab” stones described above, there are a number of similarly-numbered stones at Keshet Israel that have an arched top. Like the “slab” stones, some of the “arch-top” stones bear only a number, albeit of a different height and style. It is believed that these, too, are pandemic stones, likely produced by a different monument company than the “slab” stones.

There are ten “arch-top” stones at Keshet Israel, nearly all of which are no longer legible despite the depth of the original numeric inscription. Under oblique lighting, stones can be seen to be clearly etched with the numbers 2, 4, 6, 7, 9, 18, 20, 21, 22, and 24. There are other numbered “arch-top” stones which, to date, defy identification. One bears the digit 9, offset to the right of the centerline as if to suggest another digit to the left, but none is apparent. Given the sequence of identified numbers, 19 seems a reasonable assumption.

Conclusion

Seemingly in the backyard of a house in Port Vue, Allegheny County, PA, there rests a small, relatively unnoticed, cemetery. No fence or gate defines the space it occupies, only a small metal sign recently placed by the Jewish Cemetery and Burial Association of Greater Pittsburgh. The tombstones within have long since lost their ability to convey information about whose graves they mark, save for three which only gave up their secrets through extraordinary effort.

With only two discernible rows of grave markers, it is the final resting place of a number of Jewish children and two known adults who died between 1907 and 1917. Twenty-eight stones were counted, though there may have been more at one time. Fifteen individuals have been identified as having been buried there. The others may have been victims of the Spanish flu pandemic of 1918, their final resting places marked only with a numbered stone.

All but two of the identified interments are of children who died at or below the age of twelve, the one identified adult being the victim of a murder, and the other having led a life that began 190 years before her name appeared in this publication.

The Keshet Israel Cemetery, as it is now known, has an interesting history though its future is steadily being eroded by the forces of nature. It is our sincere hope that the documented results of this project continue to exist long after the last vestige of the cemetery has been washed away, and that the memory of those buried therein is never lost.

Acknowledgements

This project presented a series of unique challenges, which were met only with the help of a small cadre of individuals who shared their knowledge and their time to enable us to capture the history of the Port Vue Cemetery from a distance of over a hundred years. We sincerely appreciate each and every one who took the time to talk with us, to share their knowledge, and to challenge our thinking when needed. We would especially like to acknowledge two individuals whom we consider to be adjunct members of the team:

Eric S. Lidji, Director, Rauh Jewish Archives of the Senator John Heinz History Center

Barry Rudel, Executive Director, Jewish Cemetery and Burial Association of Greater Pittsburgh

Early in the project, a number of people replied to a call for information on Facebook. One person, in particular, not only has ties to Port Vue, but also to the Keshet Israel Cemetery. Her input, assistance and reminiscences throughout the project helped us to better understand the environment in which we were working. Our sincere thanks go out to Patricia J. Begandy.

A special “thank you” is owed to Lisa Fuller, whose dark-hours photography made it possible to answer a number of questions that had plagued the project since it began – including “the” question of whether or not we were in the right cemetery. Additional nighttime photography by Alan Iszauk confirmed some of our earlier work, and brought to light new information including a burial that had not yet been identified.

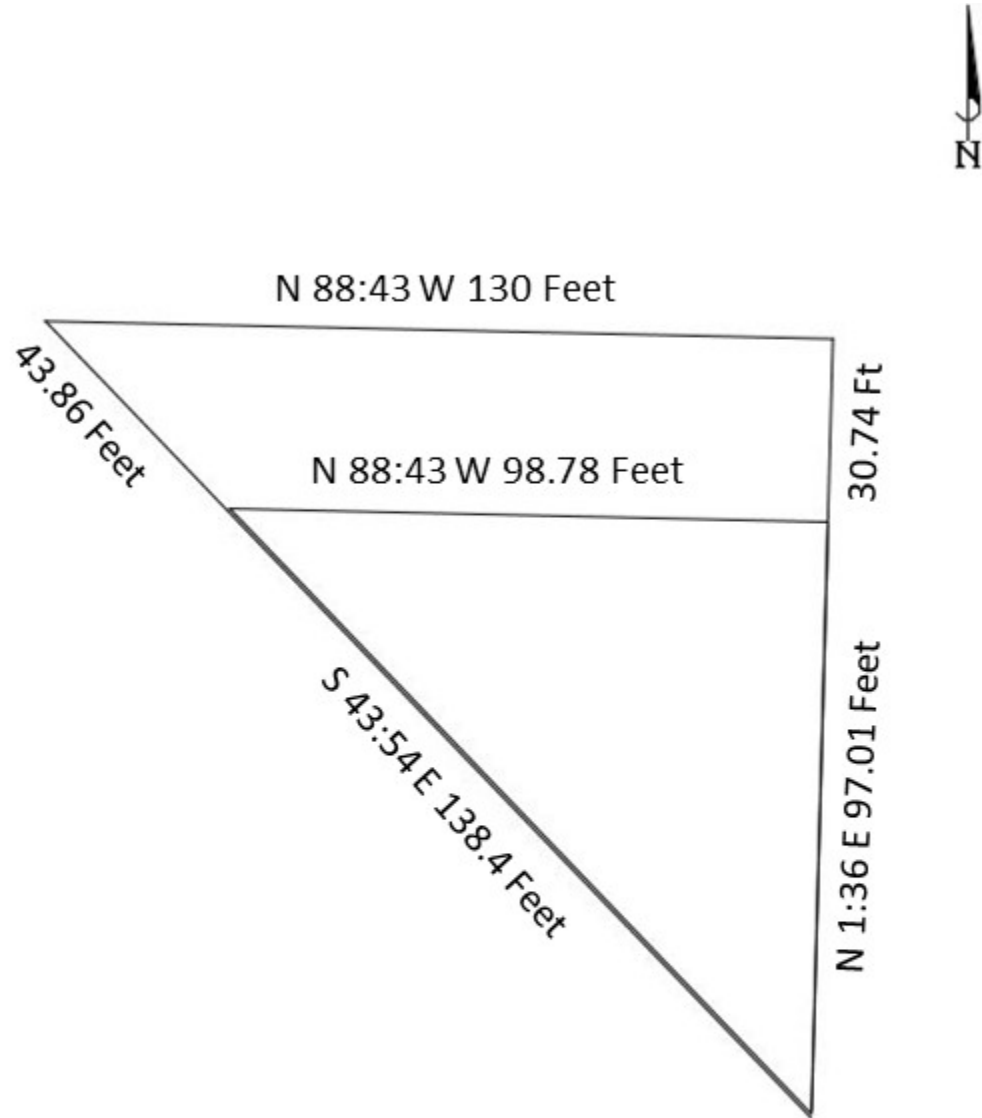

Many other individuals contributed in various ways throughout the project, including: Katherine Block; Richard Bollinger; Kelsea Collins, Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Department; Arlene Falvo, Ed Falvo, Debbie Gilbert, and the staff and members of the Elizabeth Township Historical Society; Irv Luzer; Cody Spernock; Bonnie Stern, Meagan Donnelly, and the staff at the McKeesport Regional History & Heritage Center; Aaron Schwartz; Sam Zolten, author and filmmaker, “Missing McKeesport”; and the members of the Facebook group “All About Port Vue/Glassport/Lincoln” who responded to our queries.

And finally, a debt of gratitude is owed our wives, Lisa and Vicki, for their enduring patience and support of our work in this endeavor over the past eighteen months.

N.b.: This is by no means an official chain of custody, and should not be cited as such. It was compiled by the author from the referenced documents, and may contain errors of transcription or interpretation either by the authors or by previous transcribers. It is provided here for benefit of those who may be researching the lives of those named herein.

The recorded history of the land on which the Keshet Israel Cemetery sits today begins in the year 1768 with an affidavit²³¹ which states in its entirety, “We the Subscribers two of the Justices of the Peace in and for the County of Westmoreland in the Common Wealth of Pennsylvania Do hereby Certify that there was an Improvement made by Robert Hodgins on a Tract of Land in the Forks of the Youghiogheny & Monongahela river and Lying along Lands of Samuel St. Clair’s Line and Robert Thompson in the Year of our Lord one thousand Seven hundred and Sixty eight as appears to us By a Bill of Sale dated the Ninth day of April one thousand Seven hundred and Seventy six to James Holady & Sold by the said James Holady to Peter Barrickman as appears by an assignment ~~althe not signed.~~²³² Witness our hand this Seventh day of May one thousand Seven hundred and Eighty four. [Signed: Mich Huffnagle and Alen Mitchel]

The land referenced, encompassing approximately 375.6 acres, was warranted by Peter Barrickman on August 12, 1784.^{233,234} It would be over 46 years before the first patent was issued, for 186.35 acres, to William Sill on April 7, 1831.²³⁵ It is this tract on which the Keshet Israel Cemetery would eventually reside.

In 1841, per his Last Will and Testament, William Sill bequeathed the property to his daughter, Martha, and son-in-law, William Penny, with provision that upon their deaths, the land become the property of their son, John Penny. To wit, *“I will and bequeath to my Son-in-Law William Penny and my daughter, Martha, that tract or parcel of Land on which they now live in Elizabeth Township county aforesaid containing one hundred and eighty six acres [...] and on the death of the said William and Martha the aforesaid tract of Land is to Entail to my Grand Son John Penny [...]”*²³⁶

Few residents of Port Vue today would recognize the name John Penny, though he was once a well-known landowner and coal operator in the area. On March 2, 1878, at a time when operators throughout the region were suffering similar financial downturns, John Penny filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.²³⁷ Subsequently, “William Whigham and Madison Bailey were duly Chosen Assignees of the Estate of said Bankrupt and confirmed by [the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania] and Thereupon all the Estate property and effects of said Bankrupt were duly conveyed to Said Assignees by the Register in Bankruptcy by his deed of Assignment dated April 1st 1878.”²³⁸

At this point, ownership of the property becomes difficult to follow with certainty, as the land in question was divided and sold to two individuals, Andrew McClure, and John Dale, and the portion sold to each described in their respective deeds in terms relative to adjoining properties. It can be shown however, from the Port Vue Plan of October 1893, that McClure owned the land to the west of Fern Alley. The Dale property is shown to lie to the east of the Port Vue Plan of Lots. Both are evidenced by the inclusion in the plan of a “McClure Alley” and a “Dale Street” on the edges of the plan of lots, adjoining their respective properties, and a signed statement by John Dale acknowledging his assent to the location of the streets and their dedication to public use.²³⁹

It is known that Andrew McClure, on July 16, 1878, purchased part of the Penny property²⁴⁰ which is described in the Port Vue Centennial book as encompassing an area “from New York Avenue south to the Glassport line.”²⁴¹ Upon the death of Andrew McClure in 1887, this property was willed to his son, to wit, “To my son Francis A. I Give and Devise all the farm known as the John Penny farm an[d] all the bilding (sic) thereon [...].”²⁴²

Francis McClure, in turn, sold part of the “Penny farm” property to John Dale.²⁴³ Three years later, on November 1, 1890, John Dale and Susanna M., his wife, sold their property to James E. White²⁴⁴ for the sum of $37,861.00, approximately $400/acre for 94.5 acres.

Eight months later, on July 17, 1891, James E. White sold, for the same price, to the Port Vue Land & Improvement Company²⁴⁵ who held it until 1903. At that point, it sold 442 lots in the borough of Port Vue to The Realty Company for the sum of $1.00.²⁴⁶

Two of those lots, numbers 12 and 13, were purchased by the Keshet Israel Anshie Sward Congregation of McKeesport on October 28, 1907.²⁴⁷

APPENDIX IV -- Proving the Location of “Port Vue Cemetery”

Among the most difficult of the questions to be answered by this project was one that should have been the easiest, i.e., “Where are we?” The name “Keshet Israel Cemetery” was only recently coined, in 2020, by the Jewish Cemetery and Burial Association. That is well-established. “Old Elrod,” the name cited in the Port Vue Centennial book, after some discussion is considered most likely to have been a colloquialism, essentially the product of early-20th-century conversation.²⁴⁸ What, then, was the name of this cemetery at the time of its consecration?

The answer came from within the cemetery itself. Specifically, it came from the last partially-visible line of the inscription on one of the stones. Indeed, it was one of only two partially-visible lines on any of the stones in the cemetery.

Once the date was determined, the task evolved into identifying someone – anyone – who died within a day or two of that date and who was buried in Port Vue. That someone turned out to be Jennie Zvibel, a 2-y.o. girl who died from meningitis in McKeesport on that exact date. Lo and behold, her death certificate gave her place of interment as “Port Vue Cem.” That established the name of the cemetery wherein Jennie Zvibel was buried. What was yet to be proven is whether or not “Port Vue Cemetery” referred to the property that we were researching.

With such scant information available from the stones, the one with the “July 16, 1911” date became the focus of our efforts for a while. Was it, in fact, the gravestone of Jennie Zvibel?

While this particular stone had fared reasonably well through the years, its face was now obscured by a heavy cover of lichen, making it impossible to read the Hebrew text beneath. Despite various attempts at photographing under various conditions, no additional information was discernible.

A difficult decision was eventually made, in consultation with the Jewish Cemetery and Burial Association and others, to clean the stone of the lichen growth. Cleaning a stone for genealogical purposes should always be the last resort, after all other “no-touch” options have been exhausted. It should be noted that while the science related to the effects of lichens on stone is not entirely settled²⁴⁹, their detrimental effects, both mechanical and chemical, have been widely documented²⁵⁰.

Figure 8: The Jennie Zvibel stone, still wet from cleaning

Had this stone not potentially held the only remaining key to identifying the final resting place of all of those interred in the “Port Vue Cemetery,” cleaning would not have been considered. With great caution, the stone was gently cleaned using a biological agent and soft-bristled brush technique commonly used in the preservation of monuments and historic buildings.²⁵¹

Details slowly began to emerge, lending credence to our theory that this is, in fact, the resting place of Jennie Zvibel. Her father’s given name, Anzel, was the first clue, appearing on the stone as “Antzil.” Not all of the clues are so straightforward. Jennie’s Hebrew name began to appear as well, but bears no clear relationship to her Anglo name.

Photos taken at dusk, with low-angle oblique lighting²⁵², provided the confirmation that was sought. The full inscription reads:

פנ	H[ere] L[ies]
הילדה חיה שיינדיל	The girl Chaya Shindil
בת ר אנציל צוויביל	bat (daughter of) M[r.] Antzil Zwibil
נפתרה ביום א	died on Sunday
כ תמוז תרעא	20 Tamuz 5671

Here we see the date which matches the death certificate, and the name of her father, which also matches the death certificate. That Chaya Shindil is Jennie’s Hebrew name cannot be proven from the information available, though it is highly probable given the other clues.

²⁵¹ The product used to clean the stone, D/2, is a product of D/2 Biological Solutions. Inc.

²⁵² See Appendix V for a discussion of the technique.

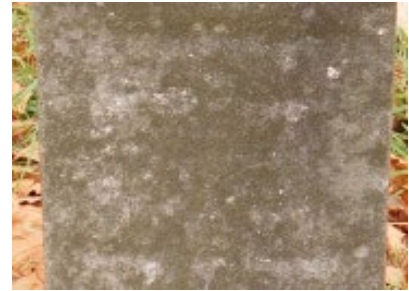

The importance of this interpretation goes well beyond the pinpointing of Jennie Zvibel's burial location. By proving that she is buried on that particular piece of land in Port Vue, the name of the cemetery that is recorded on her death certificate can be used to identify others buried on that same property.

APPENDIX V – Reading the Jacob Berkowitz Stone

The discovery of Jacob Berkowitz' tombstone came as quite a surprise, given that every interment found to that point had been of a child aged twelve or under. The assumption was that the unique "post" stone marked the burial of one of the children whose specific locations we are as yet unable to identify.

This is the best photo we could get in the light of midday. Cropped from the photo above, taken December 8, 2021, 1:18 PM EST. Indeed, when the photo was taken, it was not recognized that there was any inscription on this face of the stone.

LED lighting applied at an oblique angle, across the face of the stone, at night, brings out details that are otherwise obscured by the ambient light of midday. Cropped from a photo taken March 19, 2022, at 7:47 PM EDT, just after sundown, the inscription reads,

In order to read individual characters, it is sometimes necessary to light the stone from various angles. The markup photos below show the results from light placed at the upper left, top center, and center right of the inscription. All are cropped from photos taken at the same time as the one above.

It should be noted that the name "Jacob Berkowitz" – and certainly his death date – were not known to the project at the time that the stone was read.

Postscript

The Jewish Cemetery in Port Vue is the second project by the authors to research and document abandoned Jewish cemeteries in the McKeesport, PA, area. The first report, The Cemetery on Rippel Road, completed in November, 2021, presents a history of the cemetery established by the Ahavas Achim Congregation. It is the intention of the authors to preserve the names of those buried in these infrequently-viewed locations, and to provide a framework for keeping them alive in the collective memory of the Jewish community.

To guard against inaccuracies in this report, two genealogies were developed by two genealogists working independently, using different methods. The results were merged, and any factual disagreements resolved using primary source evidence. Birth dates and locations are excluded from this report for persons believed to be alive at the time that the report was created.

The text herein is a summary of the research done during the course of the project. In addition to this report, a virtual cemetery has been created for the Keshet Israel Cemetery at FindAGrave: <https://www.findagrave.com/cemetery/2745113/keshet-israel-cemetery> . For those wishing to conduct additional research on any of the families listed herein, you will find many of the cited references, and more information, attached to a “Keshet Israel” family tree at Ancestry.com: <https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/tree/179494534/family?cfpid=102441269618> .

Should you find an error in this report, or have need of further information, you may contact the authors (for the next few years, at least) via email at KICem.PortVue@gmail.com . Comments and additional information will always be welcomed at that same address.
