
Encyclopedia Request

Editor, The OUTLOOK:

A set of Jewish Encyclopedias is needed as a gift for a college library near Pittsburgh. Will you donate yours? It does not have to be new. For particulars call S. A. T. at GRant 0850.

The requester of the above has been doing yeoman work in placing Jewish books and encyclopedias in many local and surrounding libraries and institutions. Any reader in position to cooperate is urged to call Mr. S. A. T.—Ed.

Aids Goodwill By Placing Jewish Encyclopedia

By PHILIP KATZ

See editorial, Page 6: "Inspirational Work."

One of Pittsburgh's busiest social workers, realizing that intolerance is usually based upon prejudices due to a lack of understanding and knowledge of one group of peoples by another, has been, for the past two years, quietly carrying on a "one-man campaign" to place Jewish books and sets of Jewish Encyclopedia in public libraries, institutions and universities in this district.

But, today, faced with another request, he is wondering what to do.

Not that Sidney A. Teller, genial, soft-spoken executive director of America's No. 2 welfare center, Irene Kaufmann Settlement, up on the "hill," needs any assistance. His 23, crammed-full years, ranging from an unpaid volunteer to one of the leaders in his field, have taught him how to face many more difficult obstacles.

No Copies Available

BUT, IN THIS INSTANCE, AS he attempts to fill his most recent request for a set of Jewish Encyclopedia, in what he terms 'a goodwill movement,' he faces the fact that Funk & Wagnalls Company, the publishers of Jewish Encyclopedia in 1916 and 1925, have no more copies of either printing on hand and do not contemplate any new editions in the near future.

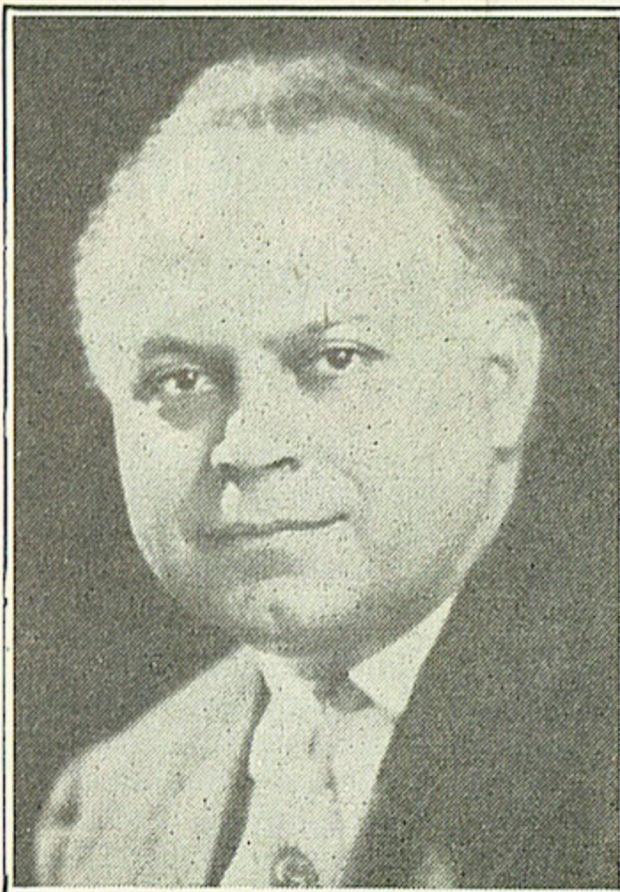

Meanwhile, the request from State Teachers' College, in Slippery Rock, Pa., has to go unfilled . . . unless, and Mr. Teller has his fingers crossed, in the vast reading audience of The Outlook, there is some kind person who has a set he or she is willing to donate or sell for a moderate fee. In the latter case, Mr. Teller will have to get "down to work again," as he says, "to find the cash first."

Which brings into the open the efforts of the welfare leader in the field of Jewish-book placement, a work he has been carrying on quietly, single-handed, asking no notice or personal recognition in return.

Two weeks ago he wrote the editor of The Outlook through whom he hoped to find a kind owner of a set of Jewish Encyclopedia. The request was published anonymously, but, so far, results have not been forthcoming.

And, although six months ago he located a set of the rare books with which the owner was willing to part, another buyer stepped in and today he has asked for the public's aid.

Through Mr. Teller's drive, aided by public-spirited, book-loving citizens here, sets of Jewish Encyclopedia, valued on the average at $100, have been placed in the Carnegie Library, in Schenley Park, Carnegie Library, Wylie Avenue

MR. TELLER

Who can help him?

Branch, Carnegie Library, Northside Branch, Duquesne University, Mount Mercy College for Women, Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania College for Women, and Westminster College, at New Wilmington.

Warm Acknowledgment

ONE OF THE WARMEST ACKNOWLEDGMENTS to Mr. Teller's location and placement of the Jewish books came from the librarian at Westminster, a United Presbyterian institution.

Miss Mildred A. Ailman, in charge of the college library, wrote:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of the set of Jewish Encyclopedia which came yesterday and wish to thank you for your efforts in our behalf in securing this set for us. It will fill a need in our library collection and I hope it will lead students to a knowledge and appreciation of the Jewish race which is too often lacking."

Mr. Teller, whose two other chief interests are speech-making (he has given more than 1,500) and world travel combined with curio-collecting, says of his efforts to place Jewish Encyclopedia:

"The placing of these Jewish Encyclopedia in the various libraries has been of great help in giving factual information as regards our people. And the value of these gifts has been increased with the situation which has developed since we started two years ago.

Places General Books

IN ADDITION, ON HIS OWN guarantee, the head of the Settlement has also permitted Mr. Ralph Munn, director of the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, to order fifty dollars worth of books dealing with Jewish interests. Half of this amount has already been raised and these volumes put into the shelves in the main library in Oakland:

Essence of Judaism, by Leo Baeck; Self Government of the Jews in Palestine Since 1900, by Moshe Burstein; The Jew in Sports, by Stanley Frank; Robert Grossteste and the Jews, by Lee M. Friedman; Jew and the Universe, by Solomon Goldman; Thus Religion Grows: The Story of Judaism, by Morris Goldstein; Culture and Conscience: An Archaeological Study of the New Religious Past in Ancient Palestine, by William Creighton and May Graham and Herbert Gordon; The Hebrew Heritage: A Study of Israel's Cultural and Spiritual Origin, by Charles Willis Harris; The Jewish Caravan, by Leo Schwarz; Jewish Contributions to Medicine, by Dr. Solomon R. Kagan; Watchmen of the Night, by Betty Kalisher; Judaism in Transition, by Dr. Mordecai Kaplan; Rebirth, by Ludwig Lewisohn; The Jew and the World Ferment, by Basil J. Mathews; Miracle Men, by David L. Mekler; The Romance of Hassidism, by Jacob S. Minkin; Protocols of the Elders of Zion, by Benjamin W. Segal; Races, Nations and Jews, by J. Tennenbaum; Judaism, by Albert L. Vincent; Goethe and the Jews, by Mark Waldman; and History of the Jews in America, by Peter Wiernik.

Five other volumes are "on order," according to Mr. Teller, and will be available for general circulation as soon as more funds are available.

But, his main concern right now is to secure a set of Jewish Encyclopedia for the men and women studying at State Teachers' College.

INSPIRATIONAL WORK

WE ALL BELIEVE that prejudice and intolerance cannot survive in the presence of facts. But all too frequently we do nothing about it beyond talk—and more talk. For this reason it is nothing short of inspirational to learn of the one-man campaign which Mr. Sidney A. Teller, of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, has been waging with such outstanding results during the past few years.

Mr. Teller's campaign has been to place sets of THE JEWISH ENCYCLOPEDIA, the recognized compilation of facts about Jews and Judaism, on the shelves of public libraries and college libraries. Each time he has learned of a library's need, instead of talking about it, he has gone among his friends and raised the necessary funds. In this way he has placed ten sets having a value in excess of one thousand dollars in the Carnegie Library and its branches, and in Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Pittsburgh, Westminster College, Mt. Mercy College, the Pennsylvania College for Women, and Duquesne University.

Now Mr. Teller faces a problem and we ask our readers to help him solve it. The encyclopedia is out of print and the publisher's supply is exhausted. The only way to fill the requests of other institutions is for local families to donate sets which they no longer need for the valuable purpose of making available true facts about things Jewish.

Jewish Encyclopedia "Search" May Yet Have Happy Ending For Teller

By PHILIP KATZ

Sidney A. Teller's Jewish Encyclopedia search may yet have a happy ending, it has been learned today.

The executive head of Center Avenue's Irene Kaufmann Settlement, whose "one-man" campaign for Jewish Encyclopedia was "uncovered" in a recent edition of The Outlook, is more hopeful today that he will be able to fill the request of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College for a set of Jewish Encyclopedia.

No Editions On Hand

MR. TELLER'S EFFORTS IN placing these reference volumes have been greatly handicapped because publishers have no more editions on hand, nor are any new printings contemplated.

Purchases from private owners must be made, therefore, unless kind book patrons are moved to donate sets in their possession, as has been the case in nine other instances, when Mr. Teller has been able to locate and place Jewish Encyclopedia in various local and tri-state libraries and colleges.

Today, The Outlook learns, an owner of a set of Encyclopedia has been located. This owner is willing to "talk business," which means funds must be raised, close to $100.

Mr. Teller feels confident that he can do so before the Passover or Easter holidays.

Place Jewish Books

THROUGH THE GENEROSITY of unnamed Pittsburgh book lovers, these additional volumes have been placed on the shelves of Carnegie Library in Schenley Park.

Purchase of these library books has also come about through Mr. Teller's efforts.

The new editions include:

And it came to Pass, Hayyim N. Bialik; The Education that Educates, Marian E. Cady; Lady de Rothschild and her Daughters, Lucy Cohen; The Quest for Peace, Abraham Cronbach; Jewish Literature since the Bible, Leon I. Feuer; Akiba, Scholar, Saint and Martyr, Louis Finkelstein; Crisis and Decision, Solomon Goldman; Pity the Persecutor, Julius Gordon; The Future of the Jews in America as Set Forth in the Scriptures, Ishmerai; Rufus Isaacs, Samuel Jackson; Jews and Minority Rights, O. I. Janowsky; Liberal Judaism and its Standpoint, Olgo Lazarus; Tragedy of the Ages, Max Huntergerg; Faithful Rebels, Israel Levine;

Israel, Adolphe Lods; Hebrew Origins, James T. Meek; Jew Laughs, Felix Mendelsohn; Social Ethics of the Jews, Arthur Meyerowitz; Hebrew Religion, W. O. Osterly; The Fullness of Israel, William Phythian and John Adams; The Folklore of the Jews, Angelo Rappoport; Beauty and the Jew, Joseph Sachs; The New Poland and the Jews, Simon Segal; Judaism in the War of Ideas, Harry Stern; Ethics of Judaism, Maxwell Silver.

Request To Be Filled!

Editor, The OUTLOOK:

I am pleased to advise you that monies have been pledged to purchase a set of the Jewish Encyclopedia to fill the request of the Slippery Rock State Teachers' College and it is hoped these monies will be available so that the set will be sent to the library to reach them at the time of Easter and Passover.

I again say I am not soliciting additional libraries, but if any further requests for Jewish Encyclopedia turn up, I shall endeavor to secure the books and the necessary funds for same.

At present, I am working with an organization to have them sponsor and take over the supplying of books dealing with Jewish interests to the libraries of Pittsburgh. If, as, and when they say "yes" and the main library accepts the plan, I shall let you know, as the matter will be properly deserving of publicity.

Let me again take this opportunity of thanking you for your fine cooperation and assistance in this matter through The American Jewish Outlook.

Sincerely yours,

"Goodwill Collection" Emerges From "One-Man" Book Campaign

By PHILIP KATZ

Sidney A. Teller, executive director of Irene Kaufmann Settlement, who, until now, had been single-handedly placing sets of Jewish Encyclopedia and other important Jewish books in the libraries of various local and surrounding universities as well as in general lending divisions of Carnegie Library here, today had the assurance of at least one rabbi and a large Jewish women's organization that from today on "the load" comes off his own shoulders and becomes a part of the community's responsibility.

The head of the busy Hill welfare center had been carrying on a "one-man" campaign raising money with which to make purchases of outstanding Jewish volumes.

Gets "Outlook" Support

HIS ACTIVITIES WERE DISCOVERED a short time ago, when, facing possible defeat in filling a request of State Teachers' College, at Slippery Rock, Pa., for a set of Jewish Encyclopedia, because there were no more editions available from the publishers and individual owners were reluctant to donate theirs, he turned to The Outlook, hoping, through the columns of this paper, to locate a set of encyclopedia for the teachers' institution.

The "one-man" campaign has finished successfully and now has emerged as a larger, more important organization to deal with the raising of money and the placing of Jewish books, voluntarily and in answer to requests.

The activity will be known as the "Goodwill Collection," according to Mr. Teller, who is highly pleased that the community has accepted this endeavor as its burden, something he had tried to do a few years back.

"Long Needed Work"

MRS. ALICE E. HANSON, Librarian at State Teachers' College, in Slippery Rock, acknowledging receipt of a set of Jewish Encyclopedia on behalf of the school, wrote this letter to Mr. Teller:

indeed welcome this set to our Reference Collection and want to thank you for your part in locating the Encyclopedia and the donors, who have so generously made its acquisition possible.

"Our library has long needed a reference work of this nature. Term papers are frequently required in connection with the "History of Civilization" course on religious subjects and the JEWISH ENCYCLOPEDIA has always been the source, in which we were lacking, for the most complete record of the civilization of the Jewish race, containing as it does lengthy biographical articles and elucidation of Talmudic law.

"I am sure your gift will prove most useful and again I express our gratefulness to you."

Has Given 1,500 Talks

MR. TELLER, WHO HAS GIVEN more than 1,500 "goodwill" talks since coming to Pittsburgh twenty-three years ago, scored especial "hits" during Passover when he addressed groups in Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church and Christ M. E. Church. He completed these two meetings by producing boxes of Matzos and "breaking bread" with his audiences.

All buildings in the camp are constructed of heavy rough-cut timber on stone foundations and possess a rustic beauty unequalled in other camps. Individual recreation halls and wash houses for each unit of 24 campers, a central recreation hall, a tremendous recreation area, a beautiful lake, and various other facilities guarantee a maximum of comfort and pleasure for the campers.

Because of U. S. Government requirements that the fee be held as low as possible, the "Y" is offering these facilities to children at the nominal rate of $12 per week for a complete camping program, including all the normal camp activities plus many special interest groups and classes. The camp capacity is limited to 96 and those interested in sending their children are urged to make application at once with the camp registrar at the "Y."

"Y" Will Conduct Day Camp

Insistent demand from parents for the continuance of the "Y" Day Camp has resulted in the announcement that this feature of the "Y" summer program will again be conducted this season. The Day Camp, which attracted approximately 100 children last year between the ages of 6 to 13 inclusive, has always been one of the most popular activities at the "Y". This year it will be under the direct charge of Marty Reiter, assistant director of physical education, and a staff comprising trained and experienced counselors.

On Jewish Encyclopedia

Editor, The OUTLOOK:

Because you assisted so generously with news space and feature articles in our little "campaign" to secure sets of Jewish Encyclopedia for various colleges in the surrounding area, we feel you may be interested in these two letters we have just received.

Very truly yours,
Sidney A. Teller
Executive Director
Irene Kaufmann Settlement

Dear Mr. Teller:

Yesterday we were pleasantly surprised with the early arrival of the "Jewish Encyclopedia," which reached here in A-1 condition.

We are deeply grateful to your kind offices in making this valuable addition to our library possible.

We regret that the generous donors of the "Jewish Encyclopedia" wish to remain anonymous. However, our appreciation is none of the less sincere, not knowing their names. For a long time we felt and knew the need of this important reference work on the Jewish people, but were forced through financial circumstances from adding this to our collection.

Much of the printed matter today on the Jewish people is tainted and colored so as to produce only intolerance and breed animosity. We are confident that the "Jewish Encyclopedia" will go far in dispelling false ideas and help many to realize the many contributions made in diverse fields by the Jewish people.

Will you please be so kind, Mr. Teller, as to convey to the donors our sincere appreciation for their interest in St. Vincent College and for their generous contribution to our Library.

Again we offer our personal thanks to you for the part played in procuring the "Jewish Encyclopedia" for us.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. Valentine J. Koehler, O.S.B.
Librarian
St. Vincent College
Latrobe, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Teller:

"The Jewish Encyclopedia has arrived safely in our library and I can assure you and the generous donor that this gift is greatly appreciated. I am happy to know that one who is interested in the work of our college has made the gift possible. You may tell the donor that here Jews, Protestants and Catholics mingle and are accepted on equal standing. The students seem to judge each other by ability, character and personality, irrespective of creed. The attitude of the students reflect in a great measure the attitude taken by the faculty.

"The Jewish Encyclopedia" has been on our want list for a long time, as we consider it a valuable source of reference and information. On behalf of the college, I am sending you our thanks and appreciation of this gift and wishing you much success in your work.

Very truly yours,

Isabel Forbes

Ocean Clipper Trip Carries I. D. Wolf's

First Pittsburghers to fly to Europe on a trans-Atlantic Clipper, in the newly-inaugurated regular service across the ocean, will be Irwin D. Wolf, Kaufmann Department Store vice-president, and his wife.

With reservations made a year ago, they are to leave Wednesday for a three-week pleasure and business trip in southern France. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf are to meet their sons, Irwin, Jr., and John, at Cannes. The boys sailed on the Normandie this past Wednesday.

Mrs. Wolf has accompanied her husband on many flying trips. Last year they travelled to Nassau and New Mexico by plane.

Set Up Councils In 46 U. S. Cities

NEW YORK, July 13. (JTA)—Community councils are becoming an increasingly popular form of Jewish community organization, according to an article in the current issue of Notes And News, published by the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds. At least 46 cities either have established or are in the process of organizing councils. In 1935, there were only 17 such agencies in existence.

Spirit Of Cooperation

THIS DEVELOPING SPIRIT OF cooperation between Jew and Christian is typical of a peculiar custom which has sprung forth with the celebration of the Chamisha Osor B'shevat Holiday. In Jerusalem at this time a cedar tree is planted for every male child born and a cypress tree for every female. When a marriage is in the offing the trees are cut and used for posts for the "Shuppa" or canopy. So with the Jew and Christian. It is hoped that the cedar and cypress trees will prove to be the Jew and Christian united by a common purpose and the "Chuppa" the change of human relationship from "blinding darkness" to "Light and Joy and Honor."

More Goodwill Books Are Added To Library

Following completion of securing Jewish Encyclopedias for various libraries here, to meet the further necessity of having various books at the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh available to the public, twelve books have already been purchased, made possible through funds from Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women, Rodef Shalom Sisterhood, Jewish Children's Aid Society and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A.

Teller, of Irene Kaufmann Settlement.

Ralph Munn, director of the Carnegie Library, has announced these books are being widely used and are instrumental in promoting better understanding.

Further funds are needed and anyone interested in adding to this Goodwill Collection, even to the extent of one book, can assist by sending necessary monies to Mr. Teller, at the Settlement, 1835 Center Avenue.

Newest additions to the local Goodwill Collection are:

Judaism and the American Mind in Theory and Practice, by Philip D. Bookstaber; The Jewish Prophets, by Harry L. Comins; Creative Judaism, by Ira Eisenstein; Perish the Jew, by David Goldberg; Through Gentile Eyes, by John Haynes Holmes; The Meaning of God in Modern Jewish Religion, by Mordecai M. Kaplan;

A History of the Jews in the United States, by Rabbi Lee J. Levinger; The Jews of Germany, by Marvin Lowenthal; Abarbanel and The Expulsion of Jews from Spain, by Jacob S. Mankin; The Jew in the Medieval Community, by James Parker; A History of Jewish Life in Modern Times, by Dorothy F. Zeligs; For the Honor of the Nation: Patriotism of the American Jew Hailed by Christian Historians, a compilation.
